Why Thailand

- There has been an increasing interest for foreign producers to shoot in Thailand.
- Thailand offers excellent logistic and advanced communication channels which attract big production houses to produce all or part of their media content in the kingdom.
- The availability of tamed animals (elephants, tigers, crocodiles), exotic jungle, historical sites (temples), beach settings & islands, relatively low production costs, and a mature domestic film industry have made Thailand an attractive location for many Hollywood films and other foreign productions.
- Even the Bollywood film industry has chosen Thailand as their key location for some of its biggest productions.
